Robert,

This is a most attractively done piece of work.

You seem to have a flair for writing - Would you consider the journalistic field as a career?

Your introduction is excellent - will you read this in English class? -

About prepositions - they never end a sentence.

Your footnotes are done well.
The diagrams show neatness and care.

I think in your appendix, it would have been a little more effective, if you had used an itemized form.

Your work is an excellent demonstration of your ability. I do hope this will give you an incentive to continue to do your best.

I agree with her - If there was anyone who deserved to be considered "top" in research, you surely do, because of all the time + effort you expended in the preparation of your research paper (book) A+++++ J.M.H.

R.G.W.

I would place the outline before the Sept.

The error in this excellent piece of work was infinitesimal.

Congratulations on a very thorough research paper.

Three Powell Brothers Win Honors

Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Powell, Carbondale, RD 1, achieved academic distinction during the winter term at Pennsylvania State University.

S. Robert, 21, a senior French major, attained a perfect 4.00 average and earned dean's list recognition.

Donald W., 21, a senior History major, finished the term with an average of 3.50. He also attained the dean's list.

Russell T., 18, a major in the Turfgrass Management Course, compiled an outstanding 3.76 average for the term.

All three brothers graduated from Fell Twp. High School.

Powell to Begin Graduate Study

S. Robert Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Powell, RD 1, Carbondale, was graduated from the Pennsylvania State University in June with a bachelor of arts in French.

While a student at Penn State, Mr. Powell served as president of his fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha, president of the French Club, and president of Phi Sigma Iota, a National Romance Language Honorary.

Mr. Powell will begin his graduate study of the romance languages and literatures in the fall at the George Washington University, Washington, D.C., where he has accepted a graduate teaching fellowship in the romance languages and literatures. Mr. Powell is working this summer in the National Agricultural Library in the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Appointment as Graduate Assistant, 1967-68

To: Mr. Silas Robert Powell
824 New Hampshire Avenue, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20037

From: Douglas W. Alden, Chairman

You are hereby offered a Graduate Assistantship for the academic year 1967-68 with a stipend of $3,000.00*. A graduate assistant conducts a total of eight periods per week of "drills" in connection with courses 1-2 or 3-4, or, occasionally, he has equivalent responsibilities. *Subject to completion of M.A.

A graduate assistant must be enrolled for two, but not more than three, graduate courses per semester. He must pay tuition and fees for his academic work to the Graduate School according to the prevailing rates. However, if the student is not a Virginia resident, the Graduate School will remit to the graduate assistant, in the form of a fellowship, the difference between Virginia fees and out-of-state fees.

The graduate assistant must be available for organizational meetings beginning Monday, September 11.

tributed towards the restoration of the 100-year-old Civil War monument in Memorial Park.

The veterans that have their names inscribed on the monument didn't hesitate to fight and die for a cause that we now enjoy, our freedom. It's a must that we should not forget those men.

The monument must be removed from the base, repaired, and a new base constructed. Total cost, $6,050.

The two organizations assumed the responsibility to raise the necessary funds. Nobody else accepted.

Half the money has been raised. We need $3,000 more.

You and I know that generous people have proved that action is greater than complaints. Some people are tops in that category -- do nothing but complain. When the chips are down, and the time comes to stand up and be counted, where are they? Where are you?

Time and the elements shows the scars. It has come to the point where if action is not taken immediately, we may not have the pleasure of this historical monument remaining in our beautiful Veterans Park.

When we reach our goal, and we will, all the names of the contributors will be displayed in the library and in the lobby of the city building.

Currently all contributors names are displayed in Memorial Park.

If you would like to add your name to the list, send contributions to: Memorial Day Comittee, P.O. Box 55, Carbondale, PA 18407. Contributions will also be accepted in the city building.

S. ROBERT POWELL DESCRIBES the Carbondale calendar, 1987, at the Historical Society's 1985 annual meeting and Christmas dessert, which was hosted by Ken and Jean Colville on December 12. The guest speaker at this meeting was Mrs. Louise B. Speicher, who spoke on the history of schools in the city of Carbondale and the surrounding area. Invitations and reservations were coordinated by Nan Loftus, assisted by Jean Colville and Joseph Pascoe. (NEWS Photo)

Historical Society holds annual meeting

The 1985 annual meeting and Christmas dessert of the Carbondale Historical Society and Museum, Inc., was held on Thursday evening, December 12, at the Hendrick Lane residence of Ken and Jean Colville. The invitations and reservations for the annual meeting and Christmas dessert were coordinated by Nan Loftus, assisted by Jean Colville and Joseph Pascoe.

The annual meeting began with a summary report by the society's president, S. Robert Powell, on the activities and accomplishments of the Historical Society during the past year. A complete description of those activities and accomplishments is given in Volume I, No. 5, of the society's newsletter, which was mailed to all members earlier this fall.

Following the president's report, Howard A. Yepson, the treasurer of the society, presented the annual report of the society's finances. Yepson's report was approved by the membership and placed on file.

S. Robert Powell then called for a report from the nominating committee (Donald W. Powell, Joseph J. Pascoe and Susan B. Stephens). Donald W. Powell, speaking on behalf of the nominating committee, reported that the following nominations had been received for the society's officers for 1985-86: S. Robert Powell, president; John V. Buberniak, first vice president; Henry J. Loftus Jr., second vice president; Robert J. Tomaine, secretary; Howard A. Yepson, treasurer. Given the fact that there were no nominations from the floor, the president instructed the treasurer to cast one ballot for the slate of officers as presented.

Donald W. Powell then reported that the following four society members, in addition to the officers of the society for 1985-86, had been nominated to serve on the board of directors of the society for 1985-86: Jim Hepburn, John N. Kiefer Jr., Joseph J. Pascoe, and Susan B. Stephens. Given the fact that there were no nominations from the floor for board of directors, the president instructed the treasurer to cast one vote for the slate of directors as presented, and the annual elections were therewith concluded.

Mrs. Louise B. Speicher, the guest speaker for the evening, was then introduced by S. Robert Powell. Mrs. Speicher, who taught typing and economic geography in the public schools of Carbondale from 1932 to 1973, then spoke on the pioneer schools of Carbondale and detailed important milestones in the history of education in the city of Carbondale and the surrounding area. Mrs. Speicher's address, a well-balanced presentation composed of historical facts, personal recollections and wity and amusing anecdotes, was enthusiastically received by the membership. When Mrs. Speicher had concluded her address, S. Robert Powell asked that all teachers in the audience stand. The many teachers, both retired and active, who are members of the society were warmly applauded by those present.

Following Mrs. Speicher's address, S. Robert Powell described to the membership the Carbondale calendar that the society is currently producing for 1987, and invited the membership, as well as the general public, to list their birthdays on the calendar. Powell then asked all persons who are interested in becoming charter members of the Carbondale-based chapter the National Railway Historical Society (the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company Gravity Railroad and Canal Chapter) speak with John V. Buberniak or John N. Kiefer Jr. at the conclusion of the meeting. Powell, in addition, then asked that all society members who had not yet renewed their memberships speak to Henry J. Loftus Jr., the society's second vice president.

Following the annual meeting, the society's Christmas dessert was presented. The hosts for the evening were Ken and Jean Colville, whose residence is beautifully decorated for the holiday season. Among the desserts that were baked for the occasion by Helen R. Powell and the society's president, and elegantly presented by Jean Colville, were: apple nut tortes, Boston cream pies, cherry pies and apple raisin pies.

The next meeting of the historical society will take place on January 9, 1986 in the society's meeting room on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall.

A time for reflection

By S. ROBERT POWELL

In 1680, William Penn - son of Sir William Penn, an admiral in the Royal Navy who, at his death, left a claim of 16,000 pounds against the government of Great Britain -- petitioned Charles II of England for a grant of a tract of land, west from the Delaware River, in liquidation of the claim he had inherited from his father. In 1681, on March 4 (presently March 14th, due to calendar changes), Charles II signed the charter granting to William Penn the following tract of land (present-day Pennsylvania): three degrees of latitude in breadth by five degrees of longitude in length, the eastern boundary to be the Delaware River, the northern boundary to be the Delaware River, the northern boundary to begin on the three and fortieth degree of north latitude.

Friday, March 14, 1986, is the 305th anniversary of the granting of that charter to William Penn. It is, therefore, altogether fitting and proper that we, as citizens of northeastern Pennsylvania, and, therefore, in the broadest sense of the term, as legatees of William Penn, not only think about the material inheritance that is ours, but also examine our state and ourselves, and ask ourselves the following questions:

What is the physical state of the Commonwealth, in general, and of northeastern Pennsylvania, in particular? In what condition is our land? our air? our water? Will the physical environment that we bequeath to our children be equal to, better than, or worse than the one that we inherited from our parents? What is the quality of life in our towns? in our cities? on our farms? Is northeastern Pennsylvania a better place in which to live than it was in the past?

What is the mental state of the Commonwealth, in general, and of northeastern Pennsylvania, in particular? Are we, as a social order, optimistic? complacent? self-righteous? altruistic? pioneering? tolerant? honest? What are the principles in which we presently believe? What are the principles in which we no longer believe? What is the state of health of our social institutions? our religious institutions? our economic institutions? our political institutions?

What do we know of ourselves? What would our ancestors think of us? What will our grandchildren think of us? What do we know of our world? What would our ancestors think of our world? What will our grandchildren think of our world? What have we learned about ourselves and our world in the past 305 years? What have we forgotten about ourselves and our world in the past 305 years?

Those are the questions that we as citizens of northeastern Pennsylvania must ask ourselves on this, the occasion of the 305th anniversary of the establishment of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Those are the questions that we, as citizens of northeastern Pennsylvania must continually ask ourselves.

...what's going on around town

Historical Society will meet October 3

A regular business meeting of the Carbondale Historical Society will take place on Thursday, October 3, at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will take place in the Society's meeting room on the third floor of Carbondale City Hall and will be under the direction of S. Robert Powell.

City's S. Robert Powell is

BY MATT REAVY

Over the past decade, Carbondale has seen a number of major improvements for which the city's businessmen and government officials may take much credit.

Still, there is one man in town who is neither a politician nor a businessman, yet he has taken up the task of bringing the city back to its former glories.

Author, scholar and self-proclaimed champion of Carbondale's potential, S. Robert Powell has stood up for many causes in his lifetime, yet none has he fought for so diligently as the preservation and exaltation of what is good in his hometown.

Robert left a career in investment banking in New York City several years ago, and since returning here, has served as the driving force behind such projects as the restoration of the clock at city hall, the reconstruction of that building's roof and the construction and installation of flower boxes throughout the downtown business district.

Moreover, his interest in the city's well being has carried over from physical renovation to a more spiritual renovation which he has attempted to bring about by increasing local awareness about the past as well as the present.

"There are a great many positive things that can be said about Carbondale," said Robert. "Most people tend not to see -- and emphasize -- the positive qualities of life in Carbondale."

Robert said he attributes the negative attitude concerning local history and community potential, in a large part, to the demise of the anthracite mining industry and the emotional impact that this has had on the area.

S. Robert Powell

"Coal is no longer king in northeastern Pennsylvania, so there is now a lack of confidence which permeates the anthracite region," he said. "People here are demoralized by the lack of local industry. They no longer have hope."

Robert's goal is to bring the people back, to renew their hope by making them realize their own value and the potential that this realization carries with it.

"It is very important to see yourself as being significant within the context of local history," he said. "I hope to make local history known to the people and to help establish a positive attitude toward this area and its history."

Along these lines, Robert and the Carbondale Historical Society, of which he is president, have developed a number of plans to educate the people about the city's past and help the community strive to take control of its own future.

Robert is currently lecturing throughout local high schools concerning the importance of local history and its importance within the context of American history, thought and civilization.

"It's difficult to get people involved with local history, because history is not generally regarded as an 'in' thing to be involved in," he said. "Most young people are primarily concerned with the present and the future, and that's as it should be, but I still think there has to be emphasis on local history."

THE PAST IS THE KEY TO THE FUTURE

While many people have seen Robert marching in parades costumed like Abraham Lincoln in his top hat and frock coat, he doesn't see himself lost in the past, but rather as something of a futurist, utilizing the past to change the attitudes about the present and bring out the potential of the future.

"I am championing a town that once was in the hope that it can be again."

The key to the revival of the local community is the past, he said. The local populace must change its negative imaging and learn to use the city's past to its own best advantage.

"One of the things which we as an area must do is we must capitalize on the very rich history of this region," he said, noting that Carbondale was a very important industrial center when Scranton and other nearby communities were just crossroads.

He noted that places, like Philadelphia for example, have capitalized on their own history to bring tourists and tourism to their towns.

"It's proved itself beautifully that it can work."

He cited the example of whaling towns in New England which are still flourishing, despite the fact that whaling is a dead industry there. These communities have turned to tourism to uplift their sagging economies.

"How many people even know what a coal breaker is?" he asked. People in this area take their own history for granted and are missing an opportunity to educate others about the past and boost their own economies in the present, he said.

THE MAN BEHIND THE PUBLIC FIGURE

While many of the people Robert has worked closely with view him as a very extroverted personality due to truly a "man for all seasons"

his active involvement in civic affairs, he said he is actually a very private person.

An avid reader who would prefer a good book to a loud party, Robert has whittled his book collection down to several thousand volumes. It was larger until he donated several thousand volumes to graduate schools and libraries throughout the country a few years ago.

His love for reading and the arts, in part, led him away from Carbondale where he had spent his childhood with his parents Walter and Helen (Russell) Powell, owners of the Homestead Golf Course.

After graduating from Fell Township High School in 1961 in a class with about 40 other students, Robert said he felt it was a good time to get away from a smalltown atmosphere for a while and experience the world.

Along these lines, he entered Penn State main campus where he later graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in education with a major in French.

His academic trek then took him to George Washington University in the nation's capital where he received a master of arts degree in French literature while serving as a graduate teaching assistant in modern languages.

He continued his studies even further at Indiana University in Bloomington, IN, where he received his Ph.D. in French literature. He has held teaching positions at Indiana University, the State University of New York, Brooklyn College of the City University of New York, as well as in several private schools in New York City.

He left teaching after 11 years in the field and went into publishing where he served with UNICEF at the United Nations, and, later, in various editorial capacities with the American Management Associations and Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.

"I wasn't fleeing from anything, it's just that the next thing I knew I was involved with publishing," he said, adding, "I had a grand time at it."

his twin brother Donald began expressing their pride in their own heritage by producing a historical quarterly called "Northeastern Pennsylvania."

This small quarterly served almost as an advertisement for northeastern Pennsylvania dealing with its political and administrative areas, arts, industries and citizens, both past and present.

"We produced, in words and photographs, a portrait of northeastern Pennsylvania during times past," said Robert. "I became very impassioned, and still am, with local history and its importance in the total picture of American history."

"I more or less cancelled all aspects of my life to come back here and get involved. I'm taking a positive stance on Carbondale's history," he said.

Since returning in 1983, Robert has served as president of the Maplewood Cemetery Association, the Committee to Restore Carbondale City Hall and later the Carbondale Historical Society.

In addition, he is a member of the board of directors of the Carbondale Public Library, the Carbondale Industrial Commission, the Administrative Board of the Berean Baptist Church and the Mayor's Advisory Council.

He has also been serving as a substitute school teacher at several area high schools including Carbondale Area, Lakeland, Forest City, Susquehanna Community, Mountain View and Western Wayne.

Yet, even with all this, Robert said he continues to plan future ventures.

The Historical Society will continue to have microfilmed local historical documents, especially newspapers, from the Carbondale Public Library, he said. The group will also continue its efforts to catalog the multitude of artifacts and documents in its collections, among many other projects.

He said he will also be working toward opening the society's historical collection to the public on a regular basis, utilizing rooms on the third floor of city hall to create a museum-type environment.

After serving as an editor for over six years, Robert took several years off from the mundane, workday life to write a book on comparative aesthetics, the philosophy of art and beauty.

The 1,100 page result of this effort, "Comparative Aesthetics: A Workbook," is a major work in the field.

"I would say that was the crowning achievement of my academic life," he said.

Publishing later led, through personal contacts, to a career in investment banking with Blyth Eastman Paine Webber and later Salomon Brothers, both major Wall Street banking firms.

"Whenever things get too comfortable, it's too claustrophobic and I tend to want to cause more 'unknowns' to enter my life," he said, noting that investment banking was a "very, very exciting" change.

FLAGS WILL BE FLOWN in center city Carbondale during Pioneer Days thanks to the Carbondale Historical Society. Society president S. Robert Powell and Susan B. Stephens, chairman of the Society's Main Street Flag Committee, recently presented ten flags to Mayor Charlotte Moro and managing director Jack

Giordano. This is the first installment of the more than 80 flags the society hopes to see flying in the city during national and local holidays. Some $1,000 has been raised thus far, but more donations are needed to reach the committee's goal. (NEWS Photo by Matt Reavy)

Members of the Carbondale Historical Society present United States flags to city officials. Purchased with contributions totaling more than $1,000 collected from local merchants and residents, the 50 flags will be displayed on holidays and during special events such as the annual Pioneer Days celebration. People from several states gathered in Whippany, N.J. to celebrate "Carbondale Day in New Jersey" Sept. 14

at all.*

Former area residents reunite in N.J.

Former Carbondaleans and former Simpson and Forest City residents came to celebrate Carbondale Day on Sunday Sept. 14 at the home of Jane and Larry Giglia, 26 Cortright Rd., Whippany, N.J.

They came from Staten Island, from Liverpool, from Tarrytown and Suffern, New York. They came from Pennsylvania and from the many cities and towns in New Jersey.

Love and respect were in their eyes. We saw many a tear drop and felt the warmth they shared in a hug and kiss, in a handshake, as they greeted and met old friends of yesterday.

Very proudly they joined in the saying of our Pledge of Allegiance to our Flag as our program started.

Our host and hostess, Jane and Larry Giglia, were introduced and they extended a warm welcome to all. Larry took us all back down memory lane with many things we did as kids back in the good old days. We all joined in singing happy birthday to Lillian DeMarceo, Bobby Giglia and Michael Gisondi.

Door prizes were awarded.

We all enjoyed dinner, delicious covered dishes of home cooking and refreshments provided by our host and hostess.

We shared a beautiful day at a beautiful home under the colorful tents among the many balloons with a wonderful host and hostess and with these adorable friends, sweethearts, buddies, and pals of yesterday.

Our special thanks to our Jane and Larry and a big thank you to the following people who cared and shared and passed our way, on this our Carbondale Day in New Jersey:

Josephine and Louis Arnese, Verona N.J.; Marge McMyne Sutherland, Hawthorne, N.J.; Margaret Masters Buchanan, Lyndhurst, N.J.; Evelyn Gentile Elia

and Jim Elia, Staten Island, N.Y.;

The Historical Society members carried the Carbondale City flag in the parade and extended greetings and congratulations from the city of Carbondale to the residents of Clarks Summit on that borough's 75th birthday.

Frank Krantz drove his 1937 Buick Century in the parade. Krantz's Buick, in which the South Abington Township officials rode in the parade, was the original company car of the Fell Brewery, Simpson, and was one of the many vintage automobiles that were prominently featured in the Clarks Summit parade.

Both of these parade entries from the Carbondale area were warmly received by the thousands of spectators who gathered to celebrate Clarks Summit's birthday.

Three volumes of books donated in memory of Eleanor P. Jones

Three sets of books, containing a total of 157 volumes, were donated to the Mountain View High School Library on August 11, 1987, in memory of the late Eleanor Pritchard Jones of Carbondale. All of these volumes, in mint condition, were donated to the school by S. Robert Powell and Donald Walter Powell, of Elkdale and Carbondale respectively, in memory of Eleanor Pritchard Jones, their first cousin once removed.

The first of these three sets of books is the 50-volume set of The Harvard Classics, edited by Charles W. Eliot and published by P.F. Collier & Son. Contained in this set are masterworks in the areas of history, poetry, science, philosophy, biography, letters, prose fiction, narrative, criticism and the essay, education, political science, drama, travel and voyages, and religion.

The second set consists of 61 Crown Octavo volumes entitled, The World's Greatest Literature, and was also published by P.F. Collier & Son, New York. Each volume is illustrated with frontispieces, each a master work in portraiture or historic painting. The primary areas covered in this set are: history, biography, philosophy, economics, politics, epic and dramatic literature, sacred and profane Oriental literature, orations, essays, and the history of English literature.

The third set consists of 46 volumes and is entitled, Library of the World's Best Literature, Charles Dudley Warner, editor. This set of books, published in 1897 by The International Society, New York, contains conspectuses of virtually all national literatures, as well as the chief matters found in literature to have engaged human interest and the chief products of intellectual and literary exertion in song, thought and knowledge.

Eleanor Pritchard Jones, in whose memory these volumes were donated to the school, was the daughter of Samuel Sheldon Jones and Margaret Gillespie Russell, and was born in Carbondale on March 4, 1883. By profession, she was a teacher of the deaf.

A graduate of Carbondale High School and Blair Hall, Blairstown, New Jersey, Miss Jones trained for teaching the deaf under Miss Ada R. King at the Pennsylvania State Oral School, Scranton, from 1902-1904. In September 1904, she began teaching the deaf at the Pennsylvania State Oral School. At the same time, she continued her professional training by attending summer schools at Northwestern University, the Central Institute of Saint Louis (under Dr. Max Goldstein), the Russell Sage Foundation, New York, and Johns Hopkins University. Her work at those four schools, together with extension courses through Columbia University, New York University, the Pennsylvania State College, and the University of Pennsylvania earned Miss Jones a Class A teacher's certificate for academic work from the Conference of Executives of the American Schools for the Deaf, Inc., on August 30, 1949.

From 1904 to 1956, Miss Jones taught at the Pennsylvania State Oral School, and, at the time of her retirement, was the Supervising Teacher of speech and head of the Auditory Department. Following her 52 years of teaching in Scranton, she accepted a position as speech therapist at Saint Mary's School for the Deaf, Buffalo, New York, where she taught from 1961 to 1967.

Miss Jones was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Carbondale for 71 years, having taught a Sunday School class there for 40 years. In 1929, she wrote the Centennial History of that church. She was an enthusiastic member of the Scranton Audubon Society, and was a teacher for 35 years in classes for the Society. On February 6, 1970, she died and bequeathed her library to S. Robert Powell and Donald W. Powell.

In donating these 157 volumes from Miss Jones' library to the Mountain View High School Library, the Powell brothers told Mr. J. Daniel Moss, Principal, that in making the memorial donation they were doing just the kind of thing of which Eleanor Jones would have approved. S. Robert Powell, who is a substitute teacher at the school, remarked: "Eleanor Jones devoted her entire life to teaching and to providing encouragement and opportunities to young people by giving them the practical and intellectual opportunities they require to lead meaningful and productive lives. In donating these books to the Mountain View High School Library, Donald and I are continuing a family tradition that was begun by Eleanor Pritchard Jones. How thrilled she would be to know that the student body at Mountain View High School will have an opportunity to explore and to know these important volumes from her library."

Each of these 157 volumes contains a bookplate in which the engraving from Eleanor Jones' personal bookplate is incorporated into the bookplate designed by the Powell brothers especially for inclusion in these presentation volumes to Mountain View High School. The illustration is an engraving by Helen T. Fuchs of a view of Newton Lake, Carbondale, as seen from the interior of a tent in which Eleanor Pritchard Jones and her life-long friend, Ellen Josephine Windsor, once camped at Newton Lake. Printed below the engraving is the following text: "Donated to the Library, Mountain View High School, Kingsley, PA, In Memory of Eleanor Pritchard Jones, Carbondale, PA, Born, March 4, 1883; Died, February 6, 1970, By Donald W. Powell and S. Robert Powell, Carbondale, PA, August 11, 1987."

Introduction

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Poultry Association at Lake City, FL on January 9, 2004, it was regularly moved (Jamie Carson) and seconded (S. Robert Powell) that Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl be admitted to the American Standard of Perfection. The motion carried.

At that same meeting of the APA's Board of Directors, it was also regularly moved (Jamie Carson) and seconded (Sam Brush) that there must be at least 25 Helmeted Guinea Fowl in an APA-sanctioned show in order for the APA to award master exhibitor points for Champion Guinea. The motion carried.

This publication is a summary statement about and description of the three and a half year initiative that resulted in the admission of Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl to the American Poultry Association's American Standard of Perfection on January 9, 2004.

Among the materials included herein are (1) a detailed chronology of the admission process for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl to the APA's American Standard of Perfection; (2) a complete report on the APA qualifying meet for Helmeted Guinea Fowl that was hosted by the Southern Ohio Poultry Association at their show at Lucasville, OH on October 4-5, 2003, (3) a Guinea Fowl Bibliography; and (4) a copy of the final version of the standard of perfection for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl.

We have produced and published this Helmeted Guinea Fowl Report for two reasons: (1) to chronicle, for the record, the project and the players in this successful Helmeted Guinea Fowl initiative; and (2) to provide a possible procedural guide/path to follow for subsequent groups of poultry enthusiasts who may be interested in carrying out an initiative to have admitted to the American Standard of Perfection a variety, breed, or species of exhibition poultry that was not included in the 1874 standard of perfection that was produced and published by the American Poultry Association.

Now that Helmeted Guinea Fowl have been officially recognized by the American Poultry Association, it is very important that we, as Guinea Fowl breeders, fanciers, and enthusiasts, not only make available Guinea Fowl eggs, keets, and breeding stock to all interested persons, but also regularly show our birds in APA-sanctioned meets.

At the same time, let us rejoice in the fact that Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl have been admitted to the APA's American Standard of Perfection.

Sincere thanks to all who contributed in any way to the success of this initiative to have Helmeted Guinea Fowl officially recognized by the American Poultry Association as a species of exhibition poultry.

Sincerely,

S. Robert Powell
Rev. Roland Romig
Don Perrin

Chronology of the Admission Process for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl to the APA's American Standard of Perfection

October 20-22, 2000. Woodstock, Ontario, Canada, Ontario Poultry Breeders and Sarnia Poultry, Pigeon, and Pet Stock Association Show, APA 2000 annual meet.

At the meeting of the APA's Board of Directors, S. Robert Powell, District 2 Director, reported, at the request of the Rev. Roland Romig, that there was interest among poultry breeders in North America in having Guinea Fowl admitted to the American Standard of Perfection. The Board suggested that the leaders of the group interested in seeing Guinea Fowl in the American Standard of Perfection--Rev. Roland Romig, Don Perrin, and S. Robert Powell--should organize a public meeting to see just how strong the interest was among the APA membership before proceeding with the initiative. If there was strong interest, the Guinea Fowl group, said the Board, should probably launch the initiative by focusing on only two or three varieties. The group would also have to produce a written standard of perfection for Guinea Fowl.

March 17-18, 2001, Wapakoneta, OH, West Central Ohio Poultry Breeders Show, APA 2001 semiannual meet

Initial public meeting, March 17th at 11 A.M., of those persons interested in getting Helmeted Guinea Fowl admitted to the APA's American Standard of Perfection (ASOP). The group decided to call itself the Guinea Fowl Standard Group (GFSG). Members of this group were asked to contribute $10 to cover Xeroxing and postage costs for all mailings related to this Guinea Fowl initiative. Present at this meeting were the Rev. Roland Romig, Don Perrin, Sam Brush, Robert Rhodes, Danny Padgett, Chris McGeorge, George Schroeder, Ruth Binkley, Jonathan Romig, Jeffrey Romig, and S. Robert Powell. As a result of this meeting, the group learned that there was a lot of interest in/support for the initiative, in the United States and Canada, to have Helmeted Guinea Fowl admitted to the ASOP. The group decided to focus on three varieties-- Pearl, Lavender, and White--in this initiative. The steering committee (Perrin, Romig, and Powell) agreed to meet and produce a draft of a standard of perfection for Guinea Fowl.

November 2-4, 2001, Lincoln, NE, Nebraska State Poultry Association show, 2001 APA Annual meet

At the general membership meeting on November 3, Robert Powell announced to the APA membership that there is strong interest in North America in the initiative to have Helmeted Guinea Fowl admitted to the ASOP. Accordingly, it was regularly moved (Powell) and seconded (Nona Shearer) that the Guinea Fowl Standard Group proceed with the Guinea Fowl admission initiative and write a standard of perfection for Guinea Fowl in the APA format. The motion carried.

Three drafts of the standard of perfection were produced by the Guinea Fowl Standard Group in meetings at Sayre, PA, and through telephone conferences. Special thanks to the following persons who provided feedback, comments, and suggestions on each of these drafts: Sam Brush, Pat Malone, Walt Leonard, Curtis Oakes, Lois Jordan, Craig Russell, Marianne Cameron, Arlene Burt, Ruth A. Binkley, Allyson Smith, Ken and Mary Learn, Jeannette S. Ferguson, Phyllis Bender, Harold E. Knapp, Barbara J. Trupp, Bart Pals, and Jamie Carson.

Nineteen individuals and organizations became members of the GFSG for 2001-2002: Rev. Roland Romig, S. Robert Powell, Don Perrin, Curtis Oakes, Bob Rhodes, Ruth A. Binkley, Danny Padgett, Ralph Winter, Craig Russell, Ken and Mary Learn, Harold E. Knapp, Marianne Cameron, Jeannette S. Ferguson, Allyson Smith, Guinea Fowl Breeders Association, Barbara J. Trupp, Sandy Kavanaugh, Jamie Carson, and D. David DeLand.

March 16-17, 2002, Fort Worth, TX, Cowtown Poultry Association show, 2002 APA Semiannual

At the Board of Directors meeting on March 15, Robert Powell submitted a completed Application for Admittance to the American Standard of Perfection for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl. Craig Russell, Curtis Oakes, Fay Forward, Ken and Mary Learn, and Barbara J. Trupp generously contributed funds to be used toward the filing fee ($150) that was paid to the APA at the time the petition was submitted.

Before taking action on the petition, the Board said that the APA would conduct a survey of the membership to determine the extent of the interest among the membership as a whole in having Helmeted Guinea Fowl admitted to the American Standard of Perfection. The Board voted 12 to 2 in favor of using an opinion poll to determine if the APA membership were in favor of the Guinea Fowl admission initiative. An opinion poll/response form was published in the spring and summer issues of News and Views.

November 8-10, 2002, Columbus, OH, Ohio Poultry Breeders show, 2002 APA annual meet

At the Board meeting on November 8, the results of the APA Guinea Fowl opinion poll were announced: the membership voted three-to-one (with 350 votes cast) in favor of the Guinea Fowl admission initiative. The APA's Standard Committee gave the Guinea Fowl Standard Group a "recommendation to proceed." Al Watts, chairman of the APA's Constitution and By-laws Committee, made a proposal that the APA's by-laws be revised to make it possible to admit to the ASOP a species of poultry not included in the 1874 standard of perfection (e.g., Helmeted Guinea Fowl). The proposed changes in the by-laws were published in the winter 2002 issue of News and Views.

To commemorate this important Guinea Fowl initiative, Helmeted Guinea Fowl were chosen as the bird of the year by the Central Pennsylvania Avian Club and were featured on the club's 2003 mailing envelope.

May 24-25, 2003, Lucasville, OH, Southern Ohio Poultry Association show, 2003 APA Semiannual

On a motion by S. Robert Powell, with a second from Gene Bunting, the APA's Board of Directors voted in favor of the by-laws changes that were proposed at Columbus, OH in November 2002 by the Standard Committee which make it possible to admit Helmeted Guinea Fowl to the ASOP. The Guinea Fowl Standard Group submitted (1) the names of five poultry shows where it felt a qualifying meet for Pearl, Lavender, and Helmeted Guinea Fowl could be held, and (2) the names of three possible judges for the qualifying meet. The APA Standard Committee chose as the site of the qualifying meet the Southern Ohio Poultry Association show on October 4-5, 2003, with Curtis R. Oakes as Guinea Fowl judge.

Eleven individuals and organizations became members of the GFSG for 2002-2003: Alban Salser, Ken and Mary Learn, Curtis R. Oakes, Harold Knapp, Rev. Roland Romig, S. Robert Powell, Don Perrin, Fay Forward, Craig Russell, Robert Rhodes, and Marianne Cameron. In renewing his membership in the group, Don Perrin enclosed a donation in memory of Ruth A. Binkley, who died on Saturday, June 29, 2002. Ruth was one of the first supporters of this Guinea Fowl initiative and her enthusiasm for the cause was great.

October 4-5, 2003, Lucasville, Ohio, Southern Ohio Poultry Association Show

Successful APA qualifying meet for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl, with Curtis R. Oakes as judge, Kathy Gratsch as clerk, and Alban Salser as bird handling assistant. The meet coordinators were Don Perrin, Rev. Roland Romig, and S. Robert Powell who, together with Tom Lipiec and Alban Salser, constituted the Guinea Fowl Show Committee. Generous cash specials ($1115.00) were put up for this qualifying meet by Guinea Fowl breeders and exhibitors and by friends of this initiative to have Helmeted Guinea fowl admitted to the ASOP. See detailed report elsewhere in this publication.

Sincere thanks to the Southern Ohio Poultry Association from the Guinea Fowl Standard Group for hosting the APA qualifying meet for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl.

January 10-11, 2004, Lake City, FL, Florida Sunshine Classic, APA 2003 annual meet

Guinea Fowl specials for junior exhibitors ($110) that were not awarded at the qualifying meet at Lucasville in October 2003 (no junior Guinea Fowl exhibitors at Lucasville) were transferred to the 2003 APA annual meet at Lake City, FL. Given the fact that there were no junior Guinea Fowl exhibitors at the 2003 APA annual meet, the Guinea Fowl Standard Group decided to make available the $110 in question to underwrite, in part, the costs of the production, printing, and mailing of this Helmeted Guinea Fowl Report.

Given (1) the declaration submitted to the APA Standard Committee by the judge of the Helmeted Guinea Fowl (Pearl, Lavender, and White) qualifying meet, Curtis R. Oakes, that the meet was successful and, (2) Curtis Oakes' recommendation to the APA Standard Committee that Helmeted Guinea Fowl be admitted to the American Standard of Perfection, the Standard Committee recommended to the APA Board of Directors at their meeting on January 9, 2004 that Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl be admitted to the American Standard of Perfection. In response to that recommendation, it was regularly moved (Jamie Carson) and seconded (S. R. Powell) that Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl be admitted to the American Standard of Perfection. The motion carried. It was also regularly moved (Jamie Carson) and seconded (Sam Brush) that there must be at least 25 Helmeted Guinea Fowl in an APA-sanctioned show in order for the APA to award master exhibitor points for Champion Guinea. The motion carried.

Guinea Fowl Qualifying Meet Held at Lucasville Show

By S. Robert Powell

The APA qualifying meet for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl took place in conjunction with the tenth annual fall show of the Southern Ohio Poultry Association at Lucasville, OH, on October 4-5, 2003.

The Guinea Fowl were judged by Curtis R. Oakes, with Kathy Gratsch as clerk and Alban Salser as bird handling assistant. The meet coordinators for the Guinea Fowl group were Don Perrin (Alexander, NY), Rev. Roland Romig (Sayre, PA), and S. Robert Powell (Carbondale, PA) who, together with Tom Lipiec (West Edmeston, NY) and Alban Salser (Pomeroy, OH), constituted the Guinea Fowl show committee.

There were 76 Pearl Guineas in the show: 24 cocks, 19 hens, 9 cockerels, 12 pullets, 1 old trio, and 3 young trios. These birds were shown by 11 exhibitors: Brian and Amy Rismiller, Carl Shepherd, Don Perrin, Robert Sando, Robert Rhodes, S. Robert Powell, Fay Forward, Martin Schmidt, Kenneth and Mary Learn, Barb Trupp and Darryl Martin, and Craig Russell.

There were 53 Lavender Guineas in the show: 17 cocks, 17 hens, 8 cockerels, 8 pullets, and 1 young trio. These birds were shown by 9 exhibitors: Zelotes Eschmeyer, Jeanne Trent, Barb Trupp and Darryl Martin, Craig Russell, LeRoy R. Morey, Fay Forward, Robert Rhodes, Don Perrin, and S. Robert Powell.

There were 63 White Guineas in the show: 22 cocks, 14 hens, 12 cockerels, 12 pullets, and 1 young trio. These birds were shown by 8 exhibitors: Tom Lipiec, Barb Trupp and Darryl Martin, Kenneth and Mary Learn, Fay Forward, Craig Russell, Robert Rhodes, Don Perrin, and S. Robert Powell.

In the show there were also 28 Helmeted Guinea Fowl of these varieties: Royal (1c, 2h), Silver Wing (1c, 2h), Bronze (1c), Buff (1c, 1h), Buff Dundotte (2c, 2h, 2p), Coral Blue (3c, 2h), Porcelain (3c, 2h), Lavender Pied (1k), Violet (1c), and Slate (1c).

In all, there were 220 Helmeted Guinea Fowl, of 13 varieties, in the show.

The Champion Young Trio and the Champion Old Trio were both Pearls, and both were shown by S. Robert Powell.

Kenneth and Mary Learn showed the Champion Display of Whites (210 points). S. Robert Powell showed the Champion Display of Lavenders (160 points). The Champion Display of Pearls and the Champion Display of Guinea Fowl in the Show were the Pearl Guineas exhibited by S. Robert Powell, whose birds earned a total of 402 points.

The Champion Guinea of the Show was the Pearl hen shown by S. Robert Powell. The Reserve Champion Guinea of the Show was the Pearl cock shown by S. Robert Powell. For those wins, Powell was awarded generous cash specials and plaques by the Southern Ohio Poultry Association.

The Third Best Guinea in the show was shown by Don Perrin, the BV White cock.

There were a great many cash "specials" ($1115.00) that were put up for the qualifying meet by Guinea Fowl breeders and exhibitors and by friends of this initiative to have Helmeted Guinea Fowl admitted to the APA's "American Standard of Perfection."

Among the individuals memorialized in specials were Cyril Menges, Arthur Romig, Arthur Schallenberg, Addison Earley, Robert Callihan, Dale Rice, Harold Schroder, Harry Brown, Ruth Binkley, and Phyllis Bender's first house Guinea, "Enjay."

Specials in honor of the following individuals, organizations, and entities were put up by Guinea Fowl breeders, exhibitors, and friends: Jeannette S. Ferguson, Guinea Fowl Breeders Association, Central Pennsylvania Avian Club, www.guineafowl.com, Don Perrin, S. Robert Powell, Connie Testani, and Jeannette S. Ferguson's book "Gardening with Guineas."

Five of those specials were for junior exhibitors. As there were no junior exhibitors of Guinea Fowl in the show at Lucasville, the Guinea Fowl group decided to transfer those specials, with a total value of $110, to the APA annual meet that will take place in conjunction with the 2003 APA annual meeting, to be hosted by the Florida Sunshine Classic in Lake City, FL, January 10-11, 2004. These specials for juniors will be awarded at that meet, provided there are at least 10 guinea fowl in the show.

Copies of the standard of perfection for Pearl, Lavender, and White Helmeted Guinea Fowl are available on-line at the webpage of the APA District 2 Director: go to the APA's homepage (www.ampltya.com) and click on "District 2 Director." Helmeted Guinea Fowl Report, 01-09-2004, p. 7

Standard of Perfection

Helmeted Guinea Fowl

(Numida meleagris)

Guinea Fowl, which are native to Africa, were domesticated there more than 4,000 years ago by the Egyptians. The ancient Greeks and Romans acquired domesticated Guineas from both the East and West coasts of Africa and blended the two. They then featured them prominently in their gardens and aviaries. At the same time, they regarded Guinea Fowl as a table delicacy.

The Romans spread Guinea Fowl across Europe. With the fall of the Roman Empire, however, Guinea Fowl appear to have disappeared from northern and western Europe. In the 15th century, Portuguese traders introduced wild Guinea Fowl from West Africa into Europe and Guinea Fowl were again domesticated. They have been a popular domestic fowl ever since.

Guinea Fowl appear in Greek mythology: When Meleager, who succeeded in killing the Calydonian boar, was killed, his sisters Deianira (wife of Hercules) and Gorge were put to death and turned into Guinea Fowl by Artemis. The tears that they shed showered their sable plumage with white spots. Dionysus pleaded with Artemis to undo her work, and the sisters were returned to their human form.

Judging Guinea Fowl

The correct age and gender classifications for Guinea Fowl in poultry shows are cock, hen, cockerel, and pullet. Guinea fowl are rarely handled by the judge until the final placings are decided upon, and then only those birds which he/she expects to place. Those birds are then examined for any defects or disqualifications not apparent from the aisle. Judges should keep in mind that a female Guinea Fowl in heavy production may have faded leg color. Pinioned wings, if smoothly healed, are acceptable, as are clipped primary or secondary wing feathers. Duck foot can occur in Guinea Fowl and judges are advised to be on the lookout for it and to disqualify any bird with a duck foot.

To the untrained eye and from the aisle, it is not always an easy matter to determine the gender of Guinea Fowl. The calls made by adult birds are very useful in distinguishing the sexes. Guinea Fowl males utter a one-syllable call, usually repeated several times in succession: chit, chit, chit; females utter a two-syllable call, usually repeated several times in succession ("buck-wheat, buck-wheat, buck-wheat, buck-wheat"). A Guinea Fowl chick is properly referred to as a keet.

Standard Weights

Cock.....4.0 pounds

Cockerel.....3.5 pounds

Hen.....3.5 pounds

Pullet.....3.0 pounds

Weight is a breed characteristic. Any Guinea Fowl that deviates more than 20% either up or down from the weights listed above shall be disqualified from exhibition. For all Guinea Fowl, there is a 1-point cut for each 1/4 pound underweight. There is no point cut for the first 1/4 pound overweight, but there is a 1-point cut for each 1/4 pound thereafter.

Defects

- Under-developed helmet
- Mismatched wattles: one tucked (carried flat, laterally, close to the side of the throat) and one cupped (concave, carried at a 90-degree angle to the side of the head) on young birds of either sex
- A white feather in any section of the plumage of a colored Guinea Fowl
- A colored feather in any section of the plumage of a white Guinea Fowl
- Black flecking or a yellow cast to the plumage of a white Guinea Fowl is a serious defect.

Disqualifications

- One or more white primaries or secondaries in any colored Guinea Fowl
- One or more colored primaries or secondaries in any white Guinea Fowl
- Mismatched wattles: one tucked (carried flat, laterally, close to the side of the throat) and one cupped (concave, carried at a 90-degree angle to the side of the head) on adult birds of either sex

Shape

Male

HEAD: Short and broad, topped with a triangular-shaped helmet, which slopes slightly down-ward at the rear. The area between the nostrils and the front of the helmet is flat. The face, back of the head, and the upper neck are devoid of feathers. At the back of the head, however, starting at the base of the helmet, there is a narrow band of hair-like plumage, pointing upward, that runs down the back of the head and neck to the hackle feathers. This band of hair-like plumage gets wider as it approaches and connects to the hackle.

NOSTRILS: Prominent; a narrow band of thick skin crosses the bridge of the nose between the wattles.

BEAK: Short, stout, and well curved.

EYES: Large, round, very alert; lashes--even, prominent, well formed

WATTLES: Stiff, wide, smooth, and free from folds or wrinkles. Both wattles cupped (concave and carried at a 90-degree angle to the side of the head).

NECK: Lower neck and hackle covered with small, fine, and narrow feathers. A slight dewlap is acceptable.

BREAST: Well rounded and prominent, carried above horizontal, and curving in an unbroken line to the hocks.

BACK: Very broad and sloping in a descending curve from the base of the neck to the tip of the tail. When showing, the carriage of the Guinea Fowl is upright.

WINGS: Large, wide, and strong, well tucked-in. No points will be deducted for pinioned wings.

BODY: Fairly long, deep, well rounded, and solid.

TAIL: Relatively short and carried low

THIGHS: Medium in length, lower thigh not visible from the aisle

SHANKS and TOES: Shanks relatively short and not feathered; feet with four straight, well spread, and strong toes. Males and females are both without spurs.

Female

Same as male, except that the female's helmet is smaller than that of the male, whose helmet is more elongated and broader at the rear than the female's. The nostrils on the female Guinea Fowl are less prominent than on the male. Tucked wattles (carried flat, laterally, close to the side of the throat) or cupped wattles (concave and carried at a 90-degree angle to the side of the head) are acceptable on the female Guinea Fowl. When showing, the carriage of the Guinea Fowl is upright, although the female Guinea Fowl's stance is not as upright as that of the male.

Color

Male and Female

Plumage is blue-gray throughout, generously and regularly marked with pearl-like white spots or wavy bars of white, depending on the section of the bird in question. The largest and most circular pearls on the bird appear in the fluff feathers at the rear of the bird. The general impression is one of a spotted gray bird. Undercolor is dark slate. Indistinct barring and/or indistinct pearls in the wings is a defect.

BEAK: Reddish-horn, darker at the base

EYES: Dark brown or black

HELMET: Light brown, nearly black in young birds

WATTLES: Coral red, some white on underside of male wattles and at the outer top of the female wattles is permissible.

HEAD: A crescent-shaped patch of featherless bluish-white skin, beginning in front of the eyes and extending back to the band of hair-like plumage at the back of the neck, covers the side of the face. Bluish-black skin covers the remainder of the head, neck, and throat, down to the hackle--except for the horn and the immediate area around its base. The area from the base of the beak to the base of the helmet is coral red, matching the color of the wattles.

HACKLE: The hackle and the front of the lower neck show fine, blue-gray feathers without pearls or bars. When seen in sunlight, these feathers show some iridescence.

BACK: The back and shoulders are bluish-gray, with small pearls, which increase in size as one approaches the tail.

TAIL: The tail and coverts are bluish-gray, showing well rounded pearls.

BREAST: The breast and lower body are bluish-gray, with good-sized and well-rounded pearls throughout.

WINGS: Primaries: Upper web is light bluish-gray, marked primarily with parallel wavy bars of white on the inner primaries, and pearls in rows on the outer primaries. Lower web is marked with pearls at regular intervals.

Secondaries: Outer edge of upper and lower webs marked with regular pattern of short parallel white bars; central part of each feather is marked by three to five longitudinal rows of pearls.

LEGS, TOES, and NAILS: Dark slate, mottled with dusky orange. Judges should keep in mind that a female Guinea Fowl in heavy production may have faded leg color.

Lavender

The pattern is identical to that of the Pearl, the ground color of the plumage is light gray, or lavender. Shanks and toes are light gray to orange. Indistinct barring and/or indistinct pearls in the wing feathers is a defect.

White

Plumage is pure white throughout all sections on ideal specimens, in both male and female. Black hair feathers on the lower neck and hackle, however, are acceptable, but not preferred. Black flecking or a yellow cast to the plumage is a serious defect. Shanks and toes are orange; spotty shanks and toes are a defect. The eyes are light bay to brown.
